MAKE A FRAME DRUM FROM DEER HIDE AND STEAM-BENT ASH

Frame drums go by many names and have roots in many traditions, including the Slavic culture of my tīpuna - ancestors. I run these workshops with the belief that these simple, ancient instruments can help us to live a calmer, more connected life by encountering our inner landscapes and other perspectives and sources of wisdom.

Programme: We will start with whānaungatanga (establishing and strengthening relationships) followed by a ritual of gratitude to the animals and trees whose parts we will be using. We will spend most of Saturday creating the drums, either individually or in small groups. In the evening, we will welcome the new drums at a ceremony by the campfire.

On Sunday, we will explore the effects of musical vibrations on ourselves and our environment. This will include sound journeys, drumming, chanting, and an interactive workshop with hundreds of instruments from around the world. We will close with lunch. Departure around 2 p.m.

Facilitator: Ko Jonáš taku ingoa. I am a primary music teacher and multi-instrumentalist with over 15 years of experience facilitating music-based workshops, camps, and festivals for people of all ages. Since 2008, I have helped hundreds of drums to come to the world through workshops in my native Czech Republic, and I feel encouraged and honoured to share my experience and passion for this mahi in Aotearoa.

Cost: $690 per drum, includes programme, meals, and accommodation for one attendee. $310 per additional person includes the programme, meals, and accommodation. Reduced prices for day participants - see details on the registration form. $350 deposit upon registration. This deposit is non-refundable unless you can fill your place or it can be filled from the waiting list.

Food: Delicious vegetarian/vegan food. GF option.

Accommodation: On-site. Day participation options available. See the registration form for details.
